Rafael Cordeiro

Student - software developer

My name is Rafael and I am a student of 16 years of age , student in Domingo's Sequeira. My field of study is Software Development. I pride myself on my amiable disposition and willingness to assist others. Additionally, I possess a growth-oriented mindset, consistently striving to expand my knowledge and skillset while rectifying any mistakes I may make along the way.

Experience

○ Sep, 2021

Education - Programming of computer systems

During my three-year tenure at secondary school, I acquired a wealth of knowledge regarding computers and technology. Specifically, I gained expertise in setting up computer hardware, configuring servers, programming in languages such as C++ and Visual Basic, and working with databases, as evidenced in the "Skills" section on the right-hand side.

○ 2022 - web development course

web development

In 2019 my brother gave me a web development course in the beginning I was not relay into it but the years go by and my passion to software has only grown stronger. The endless possibilities of what can be created with code, the constant evolution of technology have all fueled my love for software. so i started learning from the curse .

Hobbies

Apart from my interest in computers, I also have a passion for skateboarding. Engaging in this activity has proven to be an effective means of clearing my mind and allowing me to disconnect from external stressors. Furthermore, skateboarding has imparted valuable life skills, including self-control and stress management, which I carry with me beyond the skatepark. Playing acoustic guitar is one of my hobbies, and it helps me clear my mind and relax. It's a great way to express myself creatively through music and relieve stress. Learning and practicing new techniques can be challenging, but it's also rewarding. I enjoy playing the acoustic guitar because it's fulfilling and enjoyable.
